August 1 – 31, 2026

Since 1974, Art Rogers has documented the lives and times of West Marin, California in a weekly photographic feature for the local newspaper, the Point Reyes Light. A January 9, 1975 editorial directs readers' picture ideas to Rogers: "A 'Small-town' newspaper works both ways." In the November 20, 1980 installment of his feature, Rogers publishes a photograph captioned, "Puppies! — Mary and Jim, San Geronimo."

The Sunday Calendar cover of the May 7, 1989 Los Angeles Times reproduces two photographs captioned, "The large photo shows Jack Goldstein's 'Untitled,' 1983, an acrylic on canvas. Beneath is Jeff Koons' 'String of Puppies,' 1988, a work in polychromed wood." Jim calls Rogers to tell him about the "colorization" of his photograph.

Art Rogers first appeared in the Point Reyes Light on November 16, 1972, in a classified advertisement: "COLLEGE PROFESSOR skilled in carpentry and landscaping would like to caretake a place in Inverness—Pt. Reyes area in exchange for work or partial rent." Emmelines' Director first appeared in the Point Reyes Light on September 4, 2008, in a photograph by Rogers captioned, "THE INVERNESS YACHT CLUB 2008 YOUTH SAILING PROGRAM ON TOMALES BAY — INVERNESS."
